

Majorca Daily Bulletin

Tuesday, June 14 2016

1.10€ · Founded 1962 · N.15993 · Passeig de Mallorca 9 A,
Palma 07011

HOME ● PAGE 3

BUS EXPLODES IN ILLETAS

MAJORCA PUT ON FOREST FIRE ALERT

● Under the slogan "your safety depends on you," the campaign appeals to public responsibility while stressing the avoidance of negligence.

● First major forest fire of the summer broke out last Thursday and blazed through the night.

See page 3

A FLOATING CITY

● The Harmony of the Seas, the world's largest passenger ship made her inaugural visit to Palma yesterday during her first Mediterranean cruise: page 7

Odds indicate "Out" campaign making up ground fast

LONDON. The chances that Britain will vote to leave the European Union increased sharply yesterday to 36 percent, the highest level since the June 23 referendum was announced by Prime Minister David Cameron four months ago, according to betting odds.

The implied probability of a British vote to stay in the EU fell to as low as 64 percent, down around 14 percentage points from last Thursday when the probability was 78 percent, according to betting odds supplied by Betfair.

Odds moved after an opinion poll by ORB for The Independent newspaper showed the "Out" camp was 10 points ahead of "In."

Bookmaker William Hill said it was offering its shortest ever odds - 7/4 or a 36 percent implied probability - on the chances of a vote to leave the European Union. "We had to halve our odds yesterday morning for a Brexit result," William Hill spokesman Graham Sharpe said.

"Political punters betting with William Hill that the EU Referendum will produce a 'Leave/Brexit' outcome have forced the odds down to their shortest level since the date of the vote was confirmed back in February," Sharpe said.

"Political punters betting with William Hill that the EU Referendum will produce a 'Leave/Brexit' outcome have forced the odds down to their shortest level since the date of the vote was confirmed back in February," Sharpe said.

William Hill said it was offering 4/9 for a bet on an In vote, or an implied probability of 69 percent.

See page 10