● Gibraltar's leader yesterday cast EU Council President Donald Tusk as a "cuckolded husband taking it out on the kids" for explicitly proposing that Spain be given a veto over the ties between the British enclave and the European Union after Brexit.

● Picardo: "This is clear Spanish bullying."

● Howard: "Britain should send a Task Force."

● Johnson: "British support for Gib. is rock solid..."

● "The Spanish government is a little surprised by the tone of comments coming out of Britain, a country known for its composure," Spain's Foreign Minister Alfonso Dastis said during a conference in Madrid.
