

Majorca Daily Bulletin

Friday, August 23 2019

1.20€ · Founded 1962 · N.16985 · Passeig de Mallorca 9 A, Palma 07011

Murray to step up singles comeback in Majorca next week

● Former world number one Andy Murray will compete in his first Challenger Tour event in 14 years at Rafa Nadal Academy in event sponsored by Sotheby's International Realty. P32

Palma, the perfect film set

● City has become increasingly popular for the productions of films and TV series. Pictured above, an advertisement made using the old city walls. See Pages 2+3.

Macron: no time for deal

Paris.— French President Emmanuel Macron told Prime Minister Boris Johnson yesterday that there was not enough time to wholly rewrite Britain's Brexit divorce deal before an Oct. 31 deadline.

Johnson met Macron at the Elysee Palace a day after talks in Berlin with German Chancellor Angela Merkel, who challenged Britain to come up with alternatives to the agreed safety net provision for the UK-Irish land border.

More than three years after the United Kingdom voted to quit the European Union, it is still unclear on what terms - or indeed whether - the bloc's second largest economy will leave the club it joined in 1973. See Inside

Increase in number of winter flights to Britain: SEE PAGE FOUR INSIDE