SEVEN FEWER FLAGS FOR BALEARIC BEACHES

● There will be 44 Blue Flags in the Balearics this summer – 31 for beaches and 13 for marinas. Twenty-one of the beaches are in Majorca; there are three in Minorca and seven in Ibiza. Inside.

Spain plans to allow Britons to enter without PCR test from May 20

● Provided that the infection rates keep declining, the Spanish tourism minister said.

Madrid.—Spain plans to lift its requirement for Britons to present a negative coronavirus PCR test upon arrival from May 20, provided that the infection rates keep declining, the Spanish tourism minister said yesterday.

“They could come from May 20 onwards without a PCR if the incidence rates are below the range currently under review, which is around 50” cases per 100,000 people, Reyes Maroto told reporters after a weekly cabinet meeting.

The blame game in Spain

Madrid.—The Spanish government and opposition blamed each other yesterday after crowds of mostly maskless youths partied in the streets of Madrid and Barcelona when a state of emergency imposed to curb the pandemic ended at the weekend.

Imposed last October amid an alarming second wave of infections, the state of emergency allowed the temporary suspension of some civil liberties, including a nationwide curfew and local travel bans. Inside
