MIGHTY REAL MALLORCA ARE BACK IN THE TOP FLIGHT...

Palma.—Real Mallorca are back in the top flight of Spanish football -La Liga!

Last night Almería lost to Cartagena (3-2) giving Mallorca the necessary point to position themselves as second in the league standings and gift them automatic promotion, all that is left is to finish as champions of the Segunda Division.

This is Real Mallorca's

ninth promotion to the elite of Spanish football.

Tonight they play Tenerife knowing promotion is in the bag, but a shout at the league title is still in the air to put the icing on the cake for a memorable season.

What is more, a certain number of fans will be allowed in the ground for their final home game for a celebration well deserved.

Murdered woman had reported her ex-partner twice to the local authorities

- Major police operation underway after mother and son are strangled in their home in Sa Pobla.
- Former boyfriend taken into custody by Palma police.

Palma.—The Government Delegate in the Balearics, Aina Calvo, denied yesterday that there was any breakdown in the system after it was revealed that the murdered woman had twice contacted the local authorities over her estranged partner. Yesterday, he was being held by Palma police as the chief suspect in the murder of the 28-year-old woman and her young son.

It was revealed that she first contacted the local authorities back in 2012 and then again in 2018. But in 2019 the couple started living together again at the home in Sa Pobla. A full investigation into the double murder is underway at the moment and the chief suspect will be questioned by a Palma judge over the coming hours.
